

Health Declaration for patients who self-refer for treatment

Vigore is a non-invasive Low Intensity Shockwave treatment (LISWT), which is known to help improve blood vessel growth. All the studies regarding its efficacy have been carried out in clinical settings with selected patient groups who had established erectile dysfunction and were deemed fit for treatment. It is therefore expected that the treatment should be preceded by a full medical check-up by your own general practitioner or an appropriate medical specialist. We strongly recommend that you have a full medical fitness check before opting for the treatment.

"Vigore" is a specialist clinical service provider and cannot take responsibility for any other health issues that you may notice unrelated to the treatment.

I hereby confirm that I have opted to have this treatment and am fit for the treatment based on (tick one which applies)

- Recommendation of my GP and he has assessed me for suitability for this procedure
- My own assessment but would require a referral to a qualified urologist pre-treatment
- My own assessment alone
